ACTnow's Note

It is the second time accidents happened at SUKE highway in the month of March 2021. It certainly came as a shock to the public when the second incident, where three workers were killed and two workers were heavily injured as well as one driver who was described as "gravely" injured, happened so near to the first incident.

In the first incident, on March 3, a portion of the bridge fell off of SUKE highway after it was hit by a heavy duty trailer, and trapped 5 innocent people in a factory van travelling on MRR2 Highway. Two women were killed and three were seriously injured. In the second accident, the crane toppled and fell down, affecting even more people than the first accident.

SUKE has been ordered to stop construction entirely until completion of investigations, if there are no alternative roads found, the company has to propose a safety measure which is to ensure that no repeated accident happens again. It is also being wondered why no road was closed before such heavy construction was ongoing.

From the year of 2013 to 2021, there were multiple accidents that happened involving highway constructions. In these years, many were killed and heavily injured. Most importantly, the public who are now afraid of driving below an under construction highway. This may cause inconvenience and mental disturbance to many. ACTnow hopes the authorities will take a stern action, rather than disturbing construction companies for just 2 years.

Two days after the second accident, a block of concrete has fallen to MRR2 Highway along the SUKE Highway. This has once again drawn the public attention and concern on SUKE Highway projects, however this time around the responsibilities fell under the lorry that was transporting it.

Safety measures are really important when it involves constructions, regardless of transportation or during the development because lives are at stake under these giant building materials. ACTnow urges the responsible companies for the above accidents to take things into hands and do the right thing by providing enough safety measures and checks, in order to not waste another innocent life.
